NO. 10,410 38TH YEAR COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1909.—TWELVE PAGES PRICE FIVE CENTS

HEARST NOMINATION CREATES QUEER TANGLE

Ivins, Republican Opponent Four Years Ago, Indorses His Candidacy.

SCORES JUDGE GAYNOR

Hearst Himself Inclined to Favor the Tammany Man Jerome May Withdraw.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—William Randolph Hearst, once defeated for mayor of this city by George B. McClellan and later defeated by Charles E. Hughes for governor of the state, was nominated for mayor tonight at a mass meeting of 4,000 of his admirers at Cooper Union.

This action was taken despite his authoritative statement last night that he would not be a candidate. Resolutions were adopted directing that a committee of five be appointed to take steps to name an entire city, county and borough ticket, which will be placed in nomination by petition.

Tonight's meeting was called, according to its leaders, with a view to showing Mr. Hearst that opinion among his followers in the old Independence league was so strongly in favor of his running again as to override even his positive declaration. The demonstration which followed his nomination lasted 20 minutes.

No indications as to Mr. Hearst's attitude were received before adjournment, but leaders and speakers expressed confidence that it would be impossible for him to refuse. The third party, which is thus suddenly projected into New York's municipal campaign, will not be known as the Independence league, but will probably bear the title, "Citizens' party," or some similar designation.

The platform as indicated by the speakers will express distrust of the intentions of both the Republican and Democratic parties, which have already nominated full local tickets, declaring that a [illegible] alliance exists between Tammany and the local Republican machine, which would make good government under either an impossibility.

The principal address was made by William M. Ivins, Republican candidate for mayor against Hearst and McClellan four years ago.

"I come here as a Republican and former political opponent of Mr. Hearst," said Mr. Ivins. "I ran against Mr. Hearst four years ago and would then have regarded his installation in the New York mayoralty as a great public calamity.

Praises Ex-Opponent.

"But for four years now I have watched him and I am now convinced that there is not a more sincere, more public-spirited or more capable gentleman and citizen before the public than Mr. Hearst. In four years no one has been more steadfast in working for the public good and my firm allegiance to the principles of the Republican party at least in national and state politics does not prevent me from coming here to bear testimony to Mr. Hearst as a whole-souled, independent well-wisher of his city and its people."

Mr. Ivins devoted a full half-hour to

MORSE GIVES BOND IN SUM OF $125,000

CONVICTED FINANCIER KEEPS OUT OF JAIL.

Has Paid Off Over Seven Million Since Sentenced to 15 Years.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The last of the 20 signatures required to validate the new bail bond for $125,000, which Charles W. Morse had to furnish to save himself from further incarceration in jail until the United States circuit court of appeals decides his case, were attached to the bond this afternoon.

Morse was convicted of violating the federal banking laws and sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment, from which he immediately appealed. The renewal of the bond is regarded as an indication that a decision on the appeal, looked for soon after the United States court of appeals convenes on October 11, may be delayed until winter.

Judge Noyes who, with Judges Lacombe and Cox, heard the arguments of Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Morse, is in Europe and may not return until December 1. Also the wording of the new bond indicates possible delay, for the document provides that in case the decision is not rendered at an early session of the court, bail shall extend until such a decision is made, if it so pleases the court.

It was largely through the efforts of Mrs. Morse that the convicted banker was admitted to bail in June. The bond was signed again today by the same prominent bankers, brokers and business men who put their signatures to the first document. Morse remains busily engaged in straightening out his affairs and is confident that his appeal from his long sentence in prison will be granted. It became known recently that he had succeeded in paying off $7,500,000 of his debts and was fast regaining control of his shattered properties.

COMPANIES ADVOCATE INCREASED CAR FARES

Street Railway Men in Convention at Denver Claim Expenses Are Growing.

DENVER, Oct. 6.—Advocates of increased fares held the attention of delegates to the [illegible] Street and Interurban Railway Association convention today and found enthusiastic support among their hearers. Increases of from 6 to 8 per cent were advocated, but the association decided to take no formal action at this time. Necessity for early action of this character, speakers declared, is found in the increased cost of equipment and maintenance, need for maintaining present wage scales and danger that reasonable profits to stockholders will be seriously curtailed by increasing expenses.

Much attention was given to the political situation and a lively interest aroused in the outcome of the election of officers scheduled for tomorrow. President James F. Shaw's strong advocacy of an "anticorporation tax" campaign has created a powerful sentiment for his re-election.

Departmental meetings were held throughout the day, the most important being that of claim agents. They formulated a plan to be submitted to the executive committee of the association for action, providing for the inauguration of a card index bureau to aid in detecting "fake accident claimants and doctors and lawyers who promote fake accident claims."

Tonight, the delegates were guests at a wild game barbecue.

LOWELL, INSTALLED AS HARVARD'S HEAD, PLANS DEPARTURE FROM ELIOT'S POLICIES

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 6.—Abbott Lawrence Lowell seated himself today in the president's chair of Harvard university, from which he proclaimed his policies and distributed the celebration gifts of the university to 30 men of letters, who came from various parts of the world to pay him tribute.

In outlining his policies, President Lowell declared himself in favor of men learning one thing well and something of everything. He placed himself on the side of intercollegiate sports as the only striking occasion for the display of college solidarity. He also stated his belief in the segregation of the freshmen and of the drawing together of ties among upper classmen. And, finally, he differed radically from some policies of his immediate predecessor, Charles William Eliot.

Yet the two great leaders—the old and the new—marched side by side in the afternoon to Memorial hall and there President (Emeritus) Eliot said the occasion was one of confident expectation, of exaltation of the memories of the past and of assured hope for the future. He commended President Lowell's policy of learning one thing well and something of everything, as the key to the individualistic doctrine of the university and indorsed many of his successor's statements as a great augury of the future.

Although the two men dominated the inaugural celebration, the grand parade of scholars, guests and alumni through the college yard to the stage in the morning and the massing of the variegated hoods and gowns on the stage in Memorial hall in the afternoon gave a brilliancy to the scene which will last long in the annals of Harvard.

The parade was headed by Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain and several other English scholars in their scarlet gowns, while behind them came the scarcely less subdued academic garbs of the German, French, Austrian, Danish and Cuban scholars. American universities and colleges also were well represented.

Dr. Eliot, as head of the alumni host, introduced the speakers and read telegrams of appreciation from the John Harvard house, Stratford-on-Avon, from the minister of education of Prussia and from Adolphus Busch of St. Louis, who announced that he had increased his gift to the building fund of the Germanic museum to $150,000.

ESCAPED CONVICT SHOT

Had Revenged Himself on Man Who Turned State's Evidence Against Him.

GUNNISON, Colo., Oct. 6.—Louis Baggs, an escaped convict, was killed by Sheriff Hanlon, near Sargeants, this county, while resisting arrest. Baggs escaped from the state penitentiary on September 22, and proceeded to the cabin of Charles Tabor, who had turned state's evidence against him. At his request, Mrs. Tabor called her husband to the door when Baggs shot him twice. Tabor is now in the hospital and in a dangerous condition. Baggs' body was brought to Gunnison and has been identified by Mrs. Tabor as that of the man who shot her husband.

YOSEMITE VALLEY A HAVEN OF REST FOR TAFT

President Gets Needed Respite From Fetes, Speeches and Travel.

FIRST VISIT TO PARK

Chief Executive Will View the Big Trees Today Talks Humorously of Playing Golf.

EL PORTAL, Cal., Oct. 6.—President Taft is safely tucked away tonight in this remote little settlement at the foot of the Sierras and near the gateway of the Yosemite valley—one of the garden spots of the world.

Clad in khaki riding breeches, soft shirt, khaki coat, boots and cap, President Taft tomorrow morning will start out of El Portal on a three days' trip of sightseeing. By stage and on foot he will visit the giant sequoias in the Mariposa big tree grove, will follow roads and trails leading into the valley and will walk about the floor of that park to admire its imposing scenic splendor.

The visit to the big trees, said to be the oldest and largest of living things, comes first in Mr. Taft's itinerary. Leaving by coach early tomorrow morning he and his party will be driven to Wawona, at the edge of the grove, where real monarchs of the forest grow to an altitude of more than 300 feet and more than 100 feet in circumference at the base.

Mr. Taft will be driven through a tunnel cut through the base of one of the oldest trees, said to have been standing from 3,000 to 5,000 years. The forenoon of Friday will be given over to the big trees, the President spending Thursday night at the hotel at Wawona.

Three Days of Rest.

On Friday afternoon the President will enter the park from one of the highest points and, after a trip to all the show places of the upper levels, will begin a descent to the floor, which [illegible] cliffs of stone more than 3,000 feet high. It will be the President's first trip into the Yosemite, and he has been looking forward to it for months, both as a sightseeing experience and as affording three days of rest from surging crowds and speechmaking.

When park officials heard that the President was coming they arranged to have a troop of United States cavalry act as his escort for the day among the big trees and the two days in the valley. Mr. Taft was informed of the plans at San Francisco and asked at once that the escort be dispensed with. He is anxious that the trip through the park shall be devoid of spectacular features and that his visit shall be relieved as much as possible of an official aspect. The President was pretty tired from his strenuous day in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley yesterday and retired early tonight in the little hotel here.

John Muir, noted naturalist and geologist, a recognized authority on all matters of the Yosemite, joined the President's party at San Francisco this morning and will personally explain the wonders of the park and valley to Mr. Taft. The Yosemite recently was receded by California to the United States and now is under the same control as the Yellowstone. The President visited the Yellowstone several years ago and during his present tour is adding the Yosemite and the Grand Canon of Arizona to the long list of

ORDINANCE DEFINES DUTIES OF OFFICIALS

FOLLOWS CHARTER, BUT GOES MORE INTO DETAIL.

City Attorney McKesson Prepares Document After Series of Conferences With Council.

During the last of a series of conferences, the City Council and City Attorney C. L. McKesson yesterday drafted an ordinance regulating the duties and powers of the executive and administrative departments of this city, and assigning to them the appropriate officers and employes. This ordinance, which will probably be ordered printed this week, follows closely the general outline of the charter, but goes more into detail. The ordinance provides that the commissioner of each department shall purchase supplies for that department.

The duties and powers of the Mayor, as head of the department of water and water works, are carefully described in the charter, and the proposed ordinance copies the wording, not only as to the division of the government into the five departments, but as to the duties of the Mayor as the head of his special branch. The only additional section is as follows:

Some of Mayor's Duties.

The water superintendent, the water commissioner, the assistant water superintendent, the clerk and all assistant clerks, or bookkeepers of the water department, the meter inspector, the turn-off men, the tappers, all caretakers of the several lakes and reservoirs belonging to the city's water system, and all other employes in the water department of the city are hereby assigned and distributed to the department of water and water works. He (the Mayor) shall purchase all supplies for his department unless otherwise provided by ordinance. He shall audit and approve all payrolls and all bills and accounts for the expenditure of money in his department before the same are presented to the auditor for payment.

Department of Finance.

The ordinance then goes on to specify the duties of the commissioner of the

FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

DIRTY AIR AND COAL BILLS.

A person does not need to stay in the water long in order to get wet; neither is it necessary for one to remain in a polluted atmosphere long before feeling its bad effects. A number of persons soon poison the air in a room and make it unfit to breathe.

Air that is laden with dust is always dangerous. It is known that among those who work in dusty occupations there is a high death rate from bronchitis, pneumonia and tuberculosis. It is also known that mineral dusts are more injurious to the lungs and air passages than are the vegetable dusts. This is why the death rate from diseases of the respiratory organs among stone and metal workers is so much greater than it is among workers in flour mills and grain elevators.

The remedy is plenty of ventilation. And while it is true that frequent changes of air will necessarily affect the coal bills, this should not be measured against diseased lungs, befogged brains, and impaired efficiency. In other words, it means both health and economy to have plenty of fresh air.

GETS AN EXTENSION ON EL PASO OPTION

BURRIS HAS TEN DAYS MORE TO CLOSE DEAL.

Negotiations With Eastern Syndicate for 1,000,000 Shares Has Been Abandoned.

President A. L. Burris, of the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining company, [illegible] of 10 days on his [illegible] of stock in the company, belonging to J. H. Avery and [illegible] Bainbridge. The original option expired at 12 o'clock last night.

Mr. Burris says that he not only expects to close the deal for this stock, but that the main deal, whereby he plans to deliver 1,000,000 shares of El Paso stock to an eastern syndicate, has not been abandoned, as was published in a local paper yesterday afternoon.

"The principal deal was temporarily held in abeyance, since it was impossible to interest people in a stock which had risen in value so suddenly, especially when it had lain dormant so long, as was the case with El Paso," said Burris last night.

Burris paid 20 cents per share for his option, when Avery and Bainbridge resigned as directors of the El Paso company several months ago. The sale price is fixed at 80 cents per share, the proposed deal thus involving $58,811. The stock is in escrow at the Exchange National bank of this city.

S. W. WRIGHT IS DEAD

Aged Manitou Druggist Dies as Result of Injuries Received by Fall From Horse Monday.

S. W. Wright, a prominent druggist of Manitou, died at 6 o'clock last evening from injuries sustained Monday afternoon when he fell off his horse while prospecting in the mountains four miles northeast of the Cave of the Winds. Mr. Wright was 80 years old. He is survived by his wife. Although funeral arrangements have not been made, the body will probably be taken to his former home at Hunterville, Ia., for interment.

Mr. Wright was proprietor of the Manitou drug store at 208 Manitou avenue, and lived at 126 Washington avenue. He had lived in Manitou for a number of years and was well known in this region.

A short time after he had fallen from the horse, Mr. Wright was found by two Manitou boys who were camping in that vicinity. One of the boys remained with the injured man while the other went for help. A stretcher was secured and Mr. Wright was brought to Manitou, where he was attended by Dr. L. H. Beck. It was found that he had sustained four broken ribs and internal injuries.

LYNCHING FEARED

Young Indian, Confessed Slayer of Girl, in Jail Heavily Guarded.

WOODLAND, Cal., Oct. 6.—Wilbur Benjamin, a full-blooded Indian, confessed tonight to the murder of Violet Gilmer, a 15-year-old school girl, whose mutilated body was found near Rumsey today. The confession was made to District Attorney Anderson.

Extra precautions to guard the jail are being taken by Sheriff Brown. Threats of lynching are freely made. The officers fear trouble before morning. Benjamin is 22 years old and fairly well educated.

CITY MAY MAKE BIG SAVING ON ITS COAL

CONSIDERING PLAN TO ENTER CO-OPERATIVE COMPANY.

Attorney McKesson Takes Up Trust Question With State's Attorney General.

Will this city, in its effort to buy coal at a rate lower than that offered by [illegible] become a shareholder in the Farmers Co-operative Coal company? Commissioner J. A. Himebaugh of the department of finance has received a letter from this company to the effect that a representative will address the Council at its meeting tomorrow and may offer inducements to this end.

This organization, of which George B. Lang of Colorado Springs is vice president, is made up of producers and consumers. In other words, it sells only to members, and buys only from members, according to Mr. Himebaugh. If some plan is devised whereby Colorado Springs, through some of its officials, can become a shareholder, carload lots of coal and other fuel can be shipped to this city and taken from the railroad yards to the point of consumption. Mr. Himebaugh said yesterday that a saving of about $1.50 per ton can probably be effected in this way.

City Attorney Busy.

A satisfactory settlement of the much-mooted coal question would probably do away with the proposed investigation of the alleged coal trust, although City Attorney C. L. McKesson reported to the Council yesterday morning that he has taken up the matter with the attorney general.

McKesson also reported that the recent decision of the state supreme court, knocking out the itinerant vendors' law, will probably invalidate the local ordinance requiring a heavy license from traveling vendors.

The Merchants association reported on the commission row question. The report, as outlined in The Gazette, recently, recommends that the commission men be allowed to place platforms over the ditch and to use four feet of the sidewalk next to their buildings. This is to apply on the south side of Huerfano street, from the alley west to Cascade avenue, and on Cascade avenue between Huerfano and Cucharas streets. The report was ordered accepted, as was a protest from Manager John C. Lesher of the Victor Printing company, who objects to the granting of any special privileges to commission men and blacksmiths.

Frost introduced a resolution increasing the pay of Immune Officer Desmond Hayes from $40 to $42.50 per month, but it was voted down, three to two. Other health inspectors receive $85 per month, and Hayes, who is paid jointly by the city and county, has been getting only $40 from each. The Council felt that in view of the present scarcity of funds, the increase should be held in abeyance.

Routine Business.

A petition from 30 residents on North Wahsatch avenue in the 600 and 700 blocks, asking that the thoroughfare be sprinkled, was referred to Commissioner Lawton, as was a bill for $10 from A. S. Boynton, to replace a fence on his property at the corner of Boulder and Corona streets. Boynton says that the fence was destroyed by the builders of the conduit near that point. Lawton was also given charge of a bill for $34.75 from Mrs. Arthur Cornforth for changing the grade of the curb and gutter in front of her property on North Weber street, after the first grade had been accepted by the city.

The city attorney reported that he

"MAILED FIST FIRST LAW IN LAND OF THE MORO"

Former Governor of Province Says Southern Islands Should Be Set Apart.

UNDER MILITARY RULE

Moros Have no Conception of Popular Government, Civil Government Impossible.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 6.—Recommending, as a means of obtaining permanent American influence in the orient, the establishment of an American territory including the southern islands of the Philippine archipelago, Colonel Ralph W. Hoyt, of the Twenty-fifth U. S. Infantry, former commanding officer of the department of Mindanao, has tendered his resignation as civil governor of Moro province, and has sent his final report to Washington. Colonel Hoyt has just returned with his regiment and is now commandant at Fort Lawton.

In his report Colonel Hoyt urges that the attention of the higher authorities be invited to the great difference in the actual conditions that exist in the Moro province as compared with the rest of the Philippines and that Congress enact such laws as will effect a permanent separation of the southern islands, including Mindanao, Sulu archipelago and Palawan, from the rest of the Philippine archipelago.

In discussing this question today Colonel Hoyt said:

"The southern group of islands thus separated might be called the Mindanao plantations, to designate it from the rest of the Philippines. It should be declared territory of the United States not a colony—to be occupied by a naval base. It should have a civil-military government similar to the present government of the Moro province, with a policy so plainly expressed that it will settle any question of independence or political agitation for annexation to the northern group. The natives might be assigned to reservations, secured in all of their rights, under military protection.

"The rest of the territory should be divided into plantations and forest reserves open to occupation and development. The immense possibilities of increased production under this arrangement, the impetus given to labor and trade in establishing business on a permanent basis, would add to the arguments for the continued occupation of these southern islands by the United States, besides providing a permanent foothold of absolute American influence in the orient.

"The Moros have no conception of representative government or the meaning of independence, having no word in their language to give it expression. We have not yet built up a state or reached the mass of the people in any general uplifting movement.

"The mailed fist is the first law of the land—peace would be impossible without the actual presence of troops—for this country is neither ready nor has it ever known any other form of government. The civil-military government in which the government controls the army forces, is indispensable now and will be for generations to come. A purely civil government is quite impossible and at the present time would carry with it untold misery and suffering."

BLOWN-OUT SHOT WAS CAUSE OF MINE HORROR

Total Death List 32 Heirs of Each Victim Will Receive $300.

LADYSMITH, B. C., Oct. 6.—When darkness came tonight, 25 bodies had been removed from the Extension mine of the Wellington Colliery company, where 32 men lost their lives after an explosion of fire damp yesterday.

Those engaged in the rescue are now in sight of the seven victims remaining in the mine. It is expected that the bodies of these will be recovered.

It is now generally conceded that the disaster was caused by a dust explosion started by a blown-out shot. Under the accident policy of the company, the heirs of each victim will be given $300.

$5,000 Worth of Stamps Brought to Light by Rain on Green River.

DENVER, Oct. 6.—Five thousand dollars' worth of stamps and $4,000 worth of unsigned bank notes, part of the booty contained in a mail pouch which mysteriously disappeared from a Union Pacific mail train in Wyoming, some months ago, have been recovered by "Wild" Anderson, an emigrant, on the south fork of Green river, and returned with other private papers to postoffice inspectors in Denver. The stamps and bank notes had evidently been hidden in a ravine within three miles of the river, as a trail of stamps led from the ravine to the place where they were found. Rains had washed them into the river.

Here Is Why This Store Grows

It isn't patents, or special privileges, or monopoly that keeps us growing. Each year we grow in the volume of business done; we are growing right now as though there were no other stores in town. We grow because we are serving the public best, because we are pioneers in bettering service, in the standards of our merchandise and in handling it, because of the accuracy of our advertisements, the truthfulness of our statements over the counter, and because we always seek to make right the mistakes that happen, for the reason that human hands are not infallible. These facts, we believe, will cause you to help us grow another year.

YOSEMITE VALLEY A HAVEN OF REST FOR TAFT

the world's wonders it has been his good fortune to see.

Mr. Taft will be accompanied into the big tree grove and into the park only by members of his own party and a California delegation consisting of Governor Gillett, Senator Flint and Representatives Needham, McKinlay and Engelbright.

Given Golf Stick.

The President made several car-end speeches at thriving little California cities between San Francisco and Merced, and at the latter place was escorted to the court house, where he made a brief address to a large throng.

At Merced the President was presented with another golf stick. It was made of eucalyptus wood, gold mounted. The presentation called out a golf speech, in which the President suggested that the unirrigated land of the west be turned into open golf links for the public.

"I don't know any game that is so provocative of profanity as golf," said Mr. Taft. "I don't know any game that makes one so ashamed of your profanity. It is a game full of moments of self-abasement, with only a few moments of self-exaltation, and we Americans who are not celebrated for our modesty may find such a game excellent training.

I am sure that those gentlemen over 50 who are in need of something and do not know what, if they will only organize a golf club and get the golf sticks and golf balls and chase them around 6,000 yards every afternoon, will become a great deal more contented with life and a great deal better satisfied with the condition in which the Lord has left them."

While winding slowly up the picturesque canon of the Merced river from Merced to El Portal this evening the President's train bumped into a handcar which a section hand was trying to get off the track. The car was little damaged, no one was hurt and there was no delay. The train became stalled on a heavy grade just below El Portal and it was necessary to split it in two, the President coming in on the second half.

The engine was No. 23.

FOREIGN BALLOONISTS GLAD AMERICAN WON

MIX GETS CUP, MAKING OVER 600 MILES.

Victory Gives America Both Ribbons of the Air St. Louis Contest.

ZURICH, Oct 6.—All Zurich tonight toasted America and her champion balloonist, Edgar W Mix, who, after a remarkable and dramatic struggle against wind and rain storms has carried off first honors in the international balloon race for the Gordon Bennett cup by sailing from Zurich to the heart of the forest north of Warsaw in Russian Poland. It is calculated that Mix covered a distance of between 1,045 kilometers (648.94 miles) and 1,120 kilometers (695.52 miles).

Alfred Leblanc, the French pilot, is placed second with a distance of 834 kilometers (517.81 miles), Captain Messner, a Swiss pilot, third, with 800 kilometers (496.80 miles), and Colonel Schaeck, another Swiss entry, fourth

While there is disappointment felt because of the failure of Swiss pilots to repeat last year's victory, the general sentiment is one of satisfaction that America has taken the prize. Experts in aeronautics are filled with admiration for Mix' achievement, pointing out that the storms which drove the more experienced balloonists to earth could not conquer the American.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—While the French people are disappointed to have the United States hold both ribbons of the air, Edgar W. Mix, winner of the international balloon race, is popular here, and the Aero club of France will probably give a banquet in his honor.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Unless the balloon Centennial, H. E Honeywell pilot, last reported at Livingston, Ala., 400 miles from St. Louis, at 11 o'clock this morning, has exceeded 550 miles, the balloon St. Louis No. 3, L. Von Phul pilot, which landed this morning at Wahkon, Minn., 580 miles from St. Louis, has won the race which began here Monday. Von Phul, if he registered for the Lahm cup, has also won the coveted prize. He was in the air 41 hours, 35 minutes.

Augustus Post of New York, aid to Harmon in the New York, tonight said the New York reached an altitude of 24,200 feet and the temperature was 40 degrees below zero. By remaining in the air 48 hours and 26 minutes, the New York broke the American record for height and time in the air.

KILLS FATHER AS HE ENTERS OWN DOORWAY

Then Greenleaf, according to the confession, fired the fatal shot.

Bloated Stomach and Belching

Of Gas Is Prevented By Using Charcoal, which Absorbs and Removes Stomach Gases

The accumulation of gas in the stomach is caused in the following ways: 1. It may be swallowed in large quantities during certain abnormal conditions of the stomach and food-tract. 2. It may be produced by decomposition of food in the alimentary system. 3. It is often evolved from changes of the mucous secretions themselves. 4. Transuded from the blood. 5. Regurgitated from the duodenum or first portion of the small intestines, and in some cases from a fistulous communication with the large intestine. 6. Gas of an extremely offensive kind is produced by the decomposition of a morbid growth in the stomach, such as cancer, ulcer, tumor, etc. 7. Some forms of food are more prone than others to cause stomach gas, including sugar, starch, beans, peas, etc

To relieve the distressing symptoms of gaseous distension of the stomach, no matter what the cause may be, it has been found by numerous experiments that the most reliable and valuable remedy is charcoal, which directly absorbs all gaseous substances in the alimentary system, besides oxidizing and destroying foul odors, and antiseptically cleaning the stomach and intestinal system from one end to the other as thoroughly as soap and water cleanses the skin.

The late Dr. Leared of England strongly advocated the use of willow-charcoal in the form of lozenges for the alleviation of such stomach symptoms as indigestion, fermentation, decomposition and bloating. It has also been found extremely serviceable in relieving secondary fermentative changes in the large intestine, when administered in the form of an enema.

In Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges we have the very best form in which this great gas absorbent and purifier can be administered They are composed of the finest willow wood, treated by a special carbonizing process, and after being combined with pure honey to render them palatable, they are compressed into a lozenge, which is as agreeable to the palate as candy, and no one could possibly object to their taste

Go to your druggist and purchase a package of these powerful little absorbents, which are capable of absorbing 100 times their own volume in gases but be sure to ask for Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, as there are numerous cheap and inferior substitutes and imitations on the market, and it may be that you have given one of these minor brands a trial, and found that it did not give satisfaction, if so, don't fail to try Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, as their superiority and the vast difference between them and the others will be strongly marked and so striking, that you will ever afterward decline all substitutes and insist on having this pre-eminently superior brand

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges at all druggists, 25 cents a box

Send us your name and address, and we will send a free trial package to you by return mail. Address F. A Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Michigan.

DECLARES COMMITMENT OF THAW UNLAWFUL

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Former Governor Frank S. Black appeared today before the court of appeals for Harry K. Thaw and attacked the constitutionality of the act under which Thaw was committed to the Matteawan state hospital for the criminal insane and the law under which Thaw is being detained in that institution.

Mr. Black declared the section of the code under which Justice Dowling ordered Thaw committed was unconstitutional because the commitment was ordered without due process of law. He held that there was no proof that Thaw was insane at the time of his acquittal.

"When the verdict of that jury," said Mr. Black, in referring to Thaw's acquittal, "was brought in, Thaw stood in that court a free and innocent man."

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Contending that in the discovery of the Hudson river, as in the case of the North pole, there is "honor enough for two," thousands of Italians, smothered in flags, bunting and gay uniforms, paraded Broadway to the Battery this afternoon when they unveiled a statue of Giovanni de Verrazano, whom historians describe as the first transatlantic voyager to arrive in New York harbor. With no intention to belittle achievements of Henry Hudson, Italians maintain that Verrazano discovered the Hudson in 1524, 85 years before the Half Moon's arrival.

SUGAR SCANDAL "23" FOR DIET MEMBERS

EXPOSURE OF CROOKEDNESS CREATES FURORE.

Frenzied Financiering in Japan Rivals Any in This Country. Public Attitude Peculiar.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

IV—THE GREAT SUGAR SCANDAL.

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 17.—Sugar and scandal have been linked together in more than one country. Japan, which has a modernized government and modernized industries, has also corruption in its modern manifestations. The Japanese sugar scandal which has rung through the press of Japan for the last six months is one of the most sensational disclosures of unfortunate conditions. In its scope, as affecting the highest law-making body, the imperial diet, it is a scandal even as great as those which have been connected with sugar in the United States. No less than 23 members of parliament have been involved in the affair as alleged receivers of bribes. While the prospect that any of these will be visited with real punishment seems remote, the number of those charged with crime may be used to describe, in American slang, their political fate and social ostracism.

Japanese courts are famous for verdicts that to the western mind are not logical. Their methods of reasoning and the paths by which they arrive at conclusions sometimes "flabbergast" the inquiring Anglo-Saxon. To illustrate the point, when a Japanese court found that Viscount Miura and other representatives of the Tokio government had made a contract to murder the queen of Korea and that the queen had been murdered in accordance with that contract, the high contracting parties directing the mob, the verdict was that each and all of the defendants should be acquitted because there was no proof that the parties who planned the killing actually did the killing. Notwithstanding the elasticity of the judicial mind in Japan there [illegible] from the beginning no opportunity for a court to escape from a verdict of guilty in the cases of members of the diet charged with having accepted bribes to advance the interests of a bill to continue a rebate of customs duties to the Japanese Sugar trust to rehabilitate an insolvent corporation. An attorney for the defense—a distinguished lawyer and an orator of attainments—enlivened the trial by arguing that while his clients may have accepted money from the sugar lobby, no member of parliament could be considered morally or legally guilty of being bribed. The function of a member of a legislative body, he pointed out, is not executive. His action as an individual does not make a law, and a law made by the deliberative body of which he is an integral part may be vetoed. Therefore if he does accept money to throw his influence to a pending bill he is not guilty of crime. The nature of the argument indicates the awkwardness of the position in which members of the diet found themselves after the exposure of the scandal.

Early in January it was rumored that the Dai Nippon Sugar company was to be absorbed by the Mitsui Bishi company, which had been financially assisting it and which proposed to reform it when the proposed reimbursement of duty on crude sugar should be settled favorably. At this time gossip about the mismanagement of the concern, and crookedness of directors, was rife throughout Japan. Among other things they were accused of speculating in stock, and using their positions to manipulate the market. It was discovered that heavy losses had been concealed by juggling accounts. After many conferences the directors resigned in a body. The resignation of the auditors followed, but both bodies were persuaded to remain with the company to aid Baron Shibusawa in the proposed readjustment till new directors and auditors could be appointed. The baron had accepted the post of adviser.

It was proposed by the readjusters that dividends should be suspended, that the clemency of banks—creditors of the concern—should be secured if possible and that the government should be sounded as to whether it would accord equal treatment to sugar produced in Formosa and in Japan proper. At this time promissory notes of the Dai Nippon Sugar Refining company were being dishonored because of lack of funds. Failures of smaller concerns linked in business with the sugar company were resulting. After much discussion and delay three banks which had been asked to advance $150,000 for the relief of the company declined. More failures of business concerns resulted. The Fujimoto bank, with branches in several cities, suspended payment. It held the paper of the sugar company and its president was closely identified with that enterprise.

Shareholders became restless and poured a flood of letters into the mails, inquiring of those in charge as to the prospects of readjustment. With closed mills the company was paying idle clerks $50,000 a month in salaries and paying half wages to idle operatives. Baron Shibusawa was hotly roasted for not having advanced relief measures. The failure of the Fujimoto bank caused the shares of the company to become waste paper on the Osaka and Tokio stock exchanges. Speculative buying of $10 shares at 75 cents did not ginger the market.

Officers Arrested.

After a meeting of shareholders and creditors at the Nihombashi club in this city, about the middle of last April, without important results, the sugar scandal took a sensational turn. Judges and procurators made a search of the houses of the former president of Dai Nippon and several officers and auditors and arrested them on charges of criminal crookedness. Officers of the Suzki Shoten, a Kobe sugar firm, were searched for evidence as to an alleged deal in which officers of the two concerns had divided $300,000 representing the difference in the actual and reported purchase price of the Daiti sugar mill near Moji.

During the last week in April the scandal first publicly touched the diet. A score of members of the diet—some of the Constitutionalist party, and some of the Progressist party—were arrested upon charges of irregularities as members of committees in charge of bills affecting the interests of the Dai Nippon. Their resignations as members of the diet were handed in before the preliminary trials were held. At the preliminary trials testimony showed that the difference between the bid and asked prices for the votes of members of the diet on the sugar duty reimbursement bills was wide when a Constitutionalist member proposed to the company a scheme of wholesale bribery as the only path toward the relief of Dai Nippon. One member wanted $75,000 for his vote. Some members sold as low as $1,000 after much bargaining. With one exception the accused were committed for public trial.

Primrose Paths.

As by-products of the chief scandal new scandals developed. It was learned that directors of the sugar company and members of parliament had been leading gay lives. Two directors had been spending $1,500 a month at a certain Tokio tea house of questionable character. The candor with which some of the accused persons confessed having accepted money caused a ferment in the Japanese press. The Tokio "Asahi" declared that whereas formerly persons in lower walks of life in Japan committed crimes against individuals, those high in authority were now "drinking at the thieves' fountain." Another journal, the "Nippon," charged the government with responsibility for the unwholesome atmosphere in political circles, stating that while the press had fought corruption the courts had not done their part.

Answers of some of the accused persons, signed by them and the procurator, depicted astounding scenes of debauchery as the framing of the picture of bribe giving and taking. The money was in some cases divided among the bribe receivers at tea houses where the midnight—and all night—debauches described recall the strictures of Cicero upon the revelries of degenerate Romans at the house of Marcus Lepidus. A flash of comedy was introduced into the record by the statement of one of the accused that after he had received his allotted portion of the "swag" a burglar had entered his room and relieved him of it. So conservative a journal as the "Jiji Shimpo" of Tokio declared with heat that the disgraceful exposures of the conduct of members of the imperial diet were traceable to the attitude of the government whose policy of subsidizing industries and creating monopolies had encouraged schemes of corruption.

Damaging Admissions.

At the public trials of the members of the diet the examination of accused persons was characterized by damaging admissions rather than positive denials. The legal adviser of the sugar company testified that he had bribed a Constitutionalist member. The member of parliament took the witness stand and asserted that this was untrue, but admitted having received a "year-end present" and having borrowed a sum for election expenses giving as security an unsigned promissory note. Another had received a sum of money for his expenses on a journey to America, but he declared that he was not "a man of such low character as to receive money in the circumstances mentioned in the verdict at the preliminary examination." Still another statesman admitted that he had received $10,000 in a parcel left without an explanation by a director of the Dai Nippon company after a conversation in which his protectionist views had been warmly indorsed by the man who had the parcel in his pocket. He thought the money was left to be used for "propagandist purposes." A member of the diet who was asked to explain a transaction in which he was alleged to have received money testified that his memory was not clear upon the point because he arrived at the rendezvous quite drunk and fell asleep on the floor while the transaction was under discussion.

The attitude of the average Japanese toward the bribe-taking members of the imperial diet is the reverse of that of a westerner. It is held that while there has hardly been a question as to the guilt of the men accused, since the first disclosures were made, men of such lofty station should not be treated as common criminals. Exposure, it is contended, brings its own punishment. Political extinction and obloquy are sufficient. It is explained that the Japanese sense of honor is so fine that a man disgraced is a man well punished. Yet at the trial the men accused of crookedness did not bear themselves as if they were utterly crushd. Upon the contrary they presented, as a rule, smiling faces. Sugar and scandal seem to be always connected.

the Tammany ticket, headed by Justice William J. Gaynor.

"Justice Gaynor is carrying the banner for the gang," he said. "He is the stalking horse for Tammany. He leads the vilest ticket that has ever been placed before New York. In spite of his judicial position he has for months devoted himself to a cleverly-framed and adroitly executed conspiracy whereby the two beneficiaries are to be the judge on the one hand and the band of political criminals on the other.

"Justice Gaynor has told us that he has a right to take any man's vote, but there are some votes in New York that no decent man should care or dare to take. The Tammany ticket is not entitled to the serious consideration of any man who pretends to be a friend of the city."

Mr. Ivins' remarks created a peculiar situation, in that Mr. Hearst in a formal statement last night not only declined to run for mayor, but announced that he would support the candidacy ~~of Judge Gaynor in preference to Otto~~ T. Bannard, Republican nominee.

The only other important development in the local political situation was a report that District Attorney Jerome, having failed to get the Tammany indorsement and in face of the fusionist rally in favor of Charles S. Whitman, Republican candidate, would quit his independent fight for reelection. Mr. Jerome had neither confirmed nor denied the report late tonight.

To the Readers of The Gazette

A Wonderful, Clean, Straight Talk on the Folly of Using Cathartics for Trying to to Cure Constipation, and How to Stop it Absolutely Without Pills or Medicines.

For the Benefit of Our Readers, Prof. T. H. Midgley Gives Interesting Talk on How His Idea Has Worked Remarkable Results in Curing Constipation Without Medicine.

For the benefit of our readers we publish a timely and interesting talk by Prof. T. H. Midgley on a point which is most vital to every man, woman and child in this country—the way to stop the spreading danger of chronic constipation. All he says is true, and evidences of it are so many and varied, as seen in hundreds of letters from those who have done as he advocates, that we think it will be a public benefit to make them known. We recommend Prof. Midgley most earnestly to our readers:

24-Hour "Habit" All Important.

"It is one of the simplest things in the world to cure even the worst case of chronic constipation, and yet nearly every other man and woman you meet is positively so stopped up that they are hardly able to think clearly. To get the "habit" every 24 hours regularly works wonders. By the "habit" I don't mean the cathartic habit, but I mean that "natural, easy move" that every one ought to have without needing to make a rush for the pill box every night.

Must Quit Pill Habit.

"You young and middle-aged men and women who eat and drink everything you like, and you old men and women who are addicted to pill-eating to keep your overdue bowels going, you don't realize that there would not be one one-hundredth part of the disease on earth today if your bowels were absolutely regular.

"You can shake your fist at almost any old disease known, if you've got the bowels that do business every 24 hours. This is plain talk, but every doctor will tell you the same thing only he may be more particular in his language, but it won't have the impression on your mind.

"Now, you can't cure constipation with cathartics, and one of the reasons why there is much constipation today is because there are so many drugs, liquids and unnatural bowel movers guzzled and swallowed by so many thousands of people.

"It is true these cathartics sluice out the bowels clean, but they also sluice out that bowel-moving juice or secretion which Nature has put in every good bowel to make it work easy and right. When this natural "juice" in the bowel is cleaned out your bowels become mere dead-pipes. Then you get a bad case of constipation, and pills are swallowed to do the moving. This goes on, over and over again.

"Take it for granted now that you have got to quit taking pills and drugs, castor oil, cascara, jalap, gamboge and all other cathartics before you can ever hope to cure your constipation.

How You Can Stop Constipation Absolutely.

"If you will do as I say you can get rid of your constipation right now and forget about it ever after. You will never realize, until you have tried it, how pleasant and delightful it is to have everyday-bowels that you don't have to worry over.

"Your bowels will move themselves if you will just give them a start the 'Midgley way.' You will never realizze how gratifying it is to have regular bowels, and how fine it feels to really live, until you have tried it.

"I am willing to tell anyone, who will take the trouble to ask me, just exactly how to use this simple method, and to cure himself or herself right at home, so that it will no longer be necessary to dose with all kinds of harmful drugs and acids. I don't ask a cent for this information. I have published a book which contains this Midgley method in detail, and as it would be impossible to tell you in this brief space what it contains, I will send this book to any man or woman who is interested enough in a cure to send for it."

Gained 35 Pounds—Feel 20 Years Younger.

Prof. T. H. Midgley, Dear Sir:—Perhaps you will remember you cured me of constipation over one year ago. I am still feeling fine, can eat anything, have good complexion, weigh 185 lbs. now—used to weigh 150 when I was constipated. I have a regular bowel movement every morning. I feel 20 years younger. I hope your treatment will cure others like it did me.

Yours very truly, Henry Steinbeck,
Chillicothe, Mo.

Here Is An Opportunity of a Lifetime to Be Cured.

Here is the greatest opportunity to be cured of chronic constipation that you have ever had come to your notice.

"You Simply Can't Cure Constipation with Pills, Powders or Potions, Force is Folly. I Tell You How to Cure Yourself at Home by The "Midgley Way" Without Medicine.

You will be amazed to see the array of letters that are received daily by this benefactor of mankind who answers all letters sent to him and asks no charge for the advice which he freely gives. These letters are from worn-out, pill-ridden patients who have tried the "Midgley way" as a last desperate effort, and have been cured as easily as though they had but a mere cold.

For the benefit of our readers we have taken the trouble to pick out at random a few of these letters and publish them. For instance, Mrs Morgan Parkhurst, of Gerry, N. Y., suffered for 30 years and cured herself in 30 days so completely that she says:—"Two years ago I commenced with your treatment and am so glad I did and so thankful for what it has done for me. I have no trouble now, am better in every way."

Was Near Death.

Thos. Needham 1528 S 44th Ave., Chicago, says.—"I suffered from chronic constipation for 10 years. I tried every cathartic in the market in vain. Doctors could do nothing, and death seemed near. By following your advice I cured myself permanently in just one month."

Had Tried Every Kind of Medicine.

Miss Ella Cea, of Boone, Ia., says—"I had been a constant sufferer from that dread disease, constipation, all my life, and had tried every kind of medicine and consulted many different doctors, but none proved successful. At last I concluded to give Prof. Midgley's drugless treatment a trial. I did so and at the end of one month was completely cured. My general health grew better and at present am in the best of health. Can say it is a wonderful cure and a help to anyone suffering as I was."

Suffered 30 Years.

J. F. Kilpatrick of White Plains, Ga., a man 85 years old who had been constipated for 30 years, after taking a single month's treatment, writes May 4, '09.—"I have not taken anything for my bowels since the first of Sept., 1908. My bowels are regular as the days come—the misery that I had in my bowels has stopped. I have a good appetite all the time, I don't feel tired like I used to, my head does not seem all out of fix now—I feel like a young man to what I did before you commenced instructing me. You may use my name in your advertisements, if it will do any good, for I feel that the people of America are injuring themselves taking drugs for their bowels."

Cathartics That Increase Constipation.

"Aloes, calomel, croton oil, cascara sagrada, jalap gamboge, blue mass colocynth, assafoetida, senna, epsom salts, laxative mineral waters podophyllin castor oil, nux vomica, hyoscyamus, belladonna and others which only physicians know about, cause reaction in the bowels, and result in chronic constipation."

"It is not necessary to depend on any one of these 'movers' and just as sure as you do, you help to paralyze your own bowels. You can have them move every day regularly without taking any of these paralyzers if you will only follow out my idea which has already proved successful in hundreds of cases."

Results of Constipation.

"When a train is stuck in the tunnel and cannot be dislodged it stops traffic. With the body it is worse, because when there is a blocking-up somewhere in your 30 feet of bowels, the poison from the blockade is going to be soaked up by the little capillaries on the inside lining of the bowels, and all this poison is rushed right through the blood.

"It goes to the brain naturally, and to every part of the body, every organ being fed on this polluted blood, or sewerage. It goes to your face in the form of pimple-poison and breaks out on the skin. It goes to your head and gives you headache and dizziness, it goes to your brain and makes you drowsy. It weakens the stomach and causes dyspepsia, and bad breath, it goes to the liver and causes biliousness, it goes to the kidneys and eventually gives rise to Bright's Disease, it goes to the heart and makes it thump, it goes to the eyes and they lose their lustre, it makes your nerves flabby and weak and out-o-sorts, and this is the advance agent of all kinds of disease, which you couldn't get at all if there was pure, rich red blood flowing in your veins and your whole body was in prime condition."

Doctors Admitted Drug-Sin

The Chief Clerk of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, located at New Brunswick, N. J., writes:—"I have suffered from chronic constipation for the past six years, taking most all of the pills and potions I ever heard of. At one time I became so bad I decided to give up my position with the Railroad, as I felt my days were numbered.

"One physician told me that he as well as others were powerless to cure constipation with drugs, saying that the purgatives inflame the bowels and eventually paralyze them. I followed your advice, have not spent a penny for drugs of any sort, and I am cured."

Look Out For Your Nerves.

There is hardly anything which restores the nerves as quickly and surely as regular bowels. Most people who have weak nerves and are run down are chronically constipated. It is surprising in how short a time a man or woman can build up a strong body by being absolutely regular and taking Prof. Midgley's advice.

Our readers can be positively certain of results if they will but send for Prof. Midgley's book and follow his advice. He is known all over the country as the "Constipation Wizard." His method is all so wonderful and so simple that it has been said by a great many to be a positive pleasure to adopt the Midgley way of getting cured right at home.

There is nobody else in this country who has given this disease such deep professional study as Prof. Midgley. His advice to you will be worth hundreds of dollars and you will have saved years of misery, bad health and danger of disease.

You will realize within a few hours what it is to really live and have that exquisite feeling of perfect health, cheerful spirit, good digestion, clear mind, quick memory, energy, courage and ambition, to a degree which you probably never before could understand or experience—and all this by merely following the simple directions of a man by whose advice hundreds have been cured in a most remarkable manner.

RESCUE WORK BRINGS DANGER OF MURDER

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 6.—What proves to have been an attempt to murder Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, superintendent of the department of safety for young women of the Young Women's Christian association, and another unnamed woman, the divorced wife of an alleged suspect, is revealed through the chemical analysis of two packages of tea mailed from Seattle on August 11, addressed to Mrs. Baldwin and the divorcee. Both packages undoubtedly were mailed by the same person, and the police have under surveillance the former husband of the divorced woman, whose name they refuse to divulge. It is alleged that Mrs. Baldwin, through her charitable work in saving young women, aroused the enmity of this man, who swore to make away with her.

The train ran into an open switch at Salina.

Assistant General Manager W. S. Ennes of the Armour Packing company was seriously injured by being struck on the head by a brick thrown at a car late today. The man who threw the brick escaped.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY

"One Set of Witnesses Must Be Lying," Says Justice. Neighborhood Quarrel Aired in Case.

Bewildered by the conflicting testimony on both sides, Justice A P Toombs yesterday was obliged to discharge J. P Thomas, who was charged by C O Mackey with "striking, beating and biting" him in an unlawful manner. The case was the outgrowth of a neighborhood quarrel in the 1000 block on South Cascade avenue where both men live and many amusing incidents developed during the trial.

The trouble arose over a quarrel between children of the two men, which eventually involved them also. Four adults and two children testified on each side. The four older witnesses stubbornly supported their respective "clients," and swore that the "other man" struck first in the fight over the children's quarrel.

"One set of witnesses must be lying," announced Justice Toombs, "maybe I can get the truth from the children."

But the children were as bad as the older witnesses and, arrayed two on a side, each swore as did their parents.

Justice Toombs dismissed the defendant and severely reprimanded both plaintiff and defendant.

"You are both worse than children," he said, "try to keep out of trouble."

CHARLES H. CHURCHILL DEFENDANT IN DIVORCE SUIT

Charles H. Churchill, formerly manager of the Acacia hotel of this city, and one of the best-known hotel men in the west, was made defendant in a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Emma Churchill in the county court at Denver about one month ago, according to advices received from that city yesterday. The report is to the effect that news of the filing of the suit was successfully suppressed until yesterday. The cause for divorce was not given out, but it is said to be purely nominal.

Mr. Churchill, who is now chief clerk at the Lankershim hotel, Los Angeles, was in charge of the Acacia hotel for some time prior to his removal to Denver, about 18 months ago. He was assistant manager of the Brown Palace hotel in Denver, resigning to become manager of the Adams hotel of that city. He was formerly clerk at the Oxford, Windsor and Albany hotels of Denver. After leaving the Acacia he returned to Denver, thence to Pittsburg, and finally went to Los Angeles.

KAUFMAN'S THIRTEENTH ANNIVERSARY SALE

Today in Colorado Springs will be made notable because of the thirteenth anniversary sale at Kaufman's. Their business has been phenomenally successful, as it shows for itself. When started, the establishment consisted merely of the main floor. A year later, the main floor was enlarged and three years later the entire building was required to handle the business.

In recognition of the generous and increasing patronage accorded to the establishment, the management announces with pleasure that for the anniversary sale, today, a 10 per cent discount will be given on every purchase. The attractive feature is that this discount applies to every line of merchandise and is unrestricted in all particulars.

The exhibition of goods is complete in each department and thus the store has a most up-to-date and attractive appearance. All this is due to the progressive and honorable plan of carrying only such merchandise as can be guaranteed. A steady and increasing business has been enjoyed owing to the policy pursued from the beginning until now.

Kaufman's establishment from the basement up is modern, sanitary and well lighted, and there are magnificent showings of all that is newest and most desirable for autumn and winter wear.

The show windows, which are replete with the choicest offerings from the centers of fashion, give but a hint of the extent and variety to be found within. All who avail themselves of the anniversary sale today, may be sure that they will be served expeditiously and well, because special preparations have been made.

Today occurs Kaufman's Thirteenth Anniversary Sale. For complete particulars see adv. on page two.

Camp No. 7226, M. W. A., Will Try to Retain Banner Won Last Year.

Big Initiation December 8.

At a meeting of Colorado Springs camp No. 7226, M. W. A., last night, a campaign for 200 new members was launched in an effort to raise the camp membership to 1,200 and if possible keep the banner won last year for the largest increase in membership of any camp in the state.

The camp will be divided into two teams. The team getting the smaller number of candidates will entertain the team getting the larger number at an oyster supper in the banquet room of the new M. W. A. hall on initiation night, December 8.

According to reports read at last night's meeting, the membership of the M. W. A. has been increased by 117,000 new members this year. An effort is being made all over the country to raise the total number of new members for the entire years to at least 150,000.

Obtain from the druggist two ounces of glycerine and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix and let stand several hours; then add a teaspoonful of borax and three ounces of rosewater. MINERS BREAK DATE WITH TIGERS; LONGMONT WON'T PLAY HERE SATURDAY

That the Mines and Tigers will not meet this year is now almost a certainty. Last night after a conference at Golden, Manager P. H. Carpenter of the Mines eleven announced that, acting on the advice of Coach Curtis, the Mines had decided not to play the Colorado College Tigers in Colorado Springs, October 16. Manager Carpenter said that an effort would be made to arrange a game for later in the season.

Manager S W. Kittleman of the Tigers, after being notified that the Mines would not play here, according to schedule, said that the Tigers had no dates left, and that unless the Mines were permitted to play freshmen, the game could not be pulled off.

The general feeling here is that the Miners are making a mistake by refusing to play the Tigers. They decline to play them on the plea that, with the six-months rule in effect, they cannot get together a team, and this in spite of the fact that there are 300 students at Golden.

Golden's decision to break the date with the Tigers will cause great disappointment to local fans. For the last five years the Mines and Tigers have not met in Colorado Springs, their games having been played in Golden and Denver.

The faculty of the Longmont High school refused to permit the interscholastics to come here for a practice game with the Tigers Saturday. They claimed that two games with college elevens in two weeks was too much for a high school team. This leaves the Tigers without a game for Saturday.

TERRORS BLANK COLORADO CITY FOOTBALL ELEVEN

After playing ragged ball for the greater part of the first half, Coach Richards' High School Terrors took a brace yesterday afternoon and defeated a picked Colorado City football team, 6 to 0, in an interesting game on the west side. Time was called at the end of the first half with the Terrors in possession of the ball on the Colorado City two-yard line.

The Terrors' linemen braced up and got into the game in the second half. After making a sensational 20-yard run on a forward pass, Bruce, the High School full, broke through center and made a touchdown. Ady kicked a goal. There was no more scoring. Cheese did the punting for the Terrors, and also made a number of good end runs. Harbert made good gains. Winters' work at quarter was fairly good McIntosh and More tackles, slept through the greater part of the first half, but woke up and distinguished themselves in the second session. At the beginning of the game, the Terrors' team work was bad. Captain Morris was not in the game. Two 15-minute halves were played The average weight of the Terrors was 140, and that of their competitors, 155

The teams lined up as follows:

Terrors—Ady, le, More, lt; Cotten, lg; Girling, c; Hall, rg; McIntosh, Ahl, rt; Weber, re; Winters, qb; Harbert, Darby, St. John, lh; Bruce, fb; Ch[illegible], rh.

Colorado City—Courtright, le; Shackelford, lt; Daw, lg, Foustern, c; Martin, rg; Cohn, rt, Foote, re; Griffin, qb; B. Jamison, lh, Winternitz, fb; O. Jamison, rh.

COMPROMISE.

OFTEN it happens that in advancing specific arguments one enunciates large truths. This has been the case with President Taft who, on several occasions during his Western trip, has emphasized the idea that government is a succession of compromises and that if you cannot get what you want you must take what you can get. At Berkeley Tuesday the President dwelt on this point. The good citizen, he said, must be a good loser and must "play ball" all the time, for national progress is not often accomplished by the realization of individual or sectional ideals, but rather by the fusion of divergent and opposing theories and desires. And the test of time, he observed, will in the majority of instances prove that the amalgamation in legislation of the various forms of public opinion, involving concessions on the part of all, is more conducive to progress than the achievement of any single individual ideal.

He did not say so, nevertheless the President's utterances along this line have been defensive. He has been explaining to the people gratuitously the reasons he did not obtain a tariff bill that fully met the demand of the public and the pledge of the party platform for revision downward, and incidentally answering one or two other whys and wherefores that have led the public generally to hold in abeyance a verdict as to whether Roosevelt's judgment of Taft was right. He has, we believe, made an explanation showing that his heart is in the right place even though he needs practice in the political game as played by Uncle Joe and Senator Aldrich, not to mention sundry lesser lights who dance to their persuasive music. He has made it clear that when he saw he couldn't get all he wanted he made the best of it and got all he could. It is no discredit to Taft to say that in the same situation Roosevelt would have got more, for that would not necessarily mean that what Roosevelt might have obtained along the line of legislation he believed best for the country would actually have been best.

COMPROMISE ALWAYS NECESSARY. That is the supreme test, and perhaps that thought is the undercurrent of Taft's utterances. In either event he gave voice to a large truth, an axiom of popular government that has been too little recognized and too little observed, when he said, in substance, that government is compromise and that compromise is the sure means of advance. Popular government, as it exists in this country, should be government by all the people; to be this it must be the expression of the people's myriad-minded will as a single, cohesive unit. It can not, to achieve permanent good, be a one-man, or a one-section, or a one-class ideal, not even though that ideal be indorsed by a popular majority, local or national. The minority is not, as has been said, always right; but it is right so often as to demand consideration. That government shall realize the theory of equal justice, compromise, as the President says, is necessary. Eternal compromise is the price of progress.

POSTAL SAVINGS. FOR INSTANCE. Two recent incidents bring home the point and give timeliness to the President's remarks. Mr. Taft and a majority, probably, of the American public want the postal savings bank, and eventually the popular demand for it will be too insistent to be ignored. The bankers of the country, representing an enormous financial power and wielding immense political influence, propose to fight the savings bank to the finish. If the people get a postal savings bank law that ignores utterly the claims of the banking interests of the country to consideration, the country as a whole will suffer. If the bankers succeed in their opposition to the plan, the country as a whole will suffer. From the standpoint of national good, compromise is the only course.

Similarly, President Taft favored a corporation tax and got it. The people generally favor it. The street car men now in convention in Denver, representing five billion dollars of invested capital, are uncompromisingly opposed to it and will test the constitutionality of the measure. The eventual solution of the question, if conducive to the public welfare in the largest sense, will be a compromise, just as was Mr. Taft's acceptance of the corporation tax in lieu of an income tax.

No nation so heterogeneous as to people, so diversified as to conflicting interests, sectional or industrial, ever existed. None presenting the same problems in great degree has ever endured, and for the reason that in none has the ideal of national unity been so developed. The essence of this ideal has been in the past, largely unconsciously, compromise; it must be consciously so in the future if the problems this nation faces, as formidable as they are new, are to be successfully solved.

THE QUESTION OF SHIP SUBSIDIES.

ONE of the hardest questions that American statesmen have ever had to deal with is that of ship subsidies. For more than a half century it has come before Congress at frequent intervals and been debated at length and though it has been "settled" after a fashion the settlement has always been unsatisfactory. Time and again the Government has refused to embark on a policy of granting subsidies to oceanic steamship lines as is done by almost every European nation and by Japan, but somehow the subsidy advocates do not know when they are beaten. At nearly every session of Congress they are able to make a strong fight, and in late years they have been reinforced by the gradual verification of their earlier predictions of a disappearance of American shipping from the seas.

Just now there is only one word that adequately describes the state of our ocean-carrying trade, and that is contemptible. It is the object of derision to nations which compared to the United States are of third-rate importance, but which nevertheless are so far ahead of us on the high seas that comparisons are odious. Great Britain, Germany, France, Japan, even the little Scandinavian states, possess merchant marine fleets almost any one of which is vastly greater in numbers and tonnage than all vessels flying the American flag.

Rear-Admiral Evans declared to a Colorado Springs audience a few months ago that on the long voyage of the battleship fleet from Hampton Roads to San Francisco he saw in the various ports of call one solitary American flag—just one—on a merchant vessel, while the British, German and Scandinavian flags numbered hundreds. This experience was repeated in the voyage of the fleet around the world from San Francisco back to Hampton Roads.

EFFECT ON THE NAVY. Disgraceful? Of course it is, and worst of all, nothing is being done about it. American exporters pay annually millions of dollars in freights to foreign shipowners, all of which might as well go to Americans.

Another aspect of the matter of no less importance concerns the effect on naval operations in time of war. In piping times of peace, such as we had when the battleship fleet made its memorable cruise around the world, it is easy enough for the Navy Department to hire foreign colliers to accompany the fleet, but be it understood that the neutrality laws put a stop to this practice the minute war begins. If we were to go to war today money could not hire a foreign collier, and they could be bought only at prices almost prohibitive. Warships cannot move without colliers, which are as essential to naval operations, especially at a point distant from the base of supply, as the commissary department is to an army. With our own merchant marine, easily convertible on short notice, into colliers, troops ships, etc., this difficulty would be removed. No other first-class nation in the world is in a like position, for each of them, including our friend Japan, has a large mercantile marine fleet made up of swift vessels with big carrying capacity.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE CASE. So much for the need of a mercantile marine. Thus far there appears to be only one side to the question, and on this showing, alone, everybody would readily favor subsidy grants or any other plan that would produce the desired results. But unluckily there is another side. The word subsidy itself has an unpleasant ring. True, it is only our time-honored policy of protection raised to the nth degree, but it is carrying the protective principle to a stage which is instinctively repugnant to the American people, for it means the throwing off of all disguise, all pretense, and simply going down into the public treasury for direct cash payments to aid private commercial enterprise. It is true that this frank statement of the case is softened somewhat by the urgent considerations already noticed, but nevertheless the subsidy idea is one which is not and never will be popular.

At Seattle the other day President Taft placed himself on record as favoring an experimental subsidy program, and thus gave to the advocates of this plan the most powerful aid they have yet received. With his backing they should be able to make a fight in Congress next winter which, if not successful, will at least arouse the country's interest in larger measure than ever before.

In all probability the time is not far distant when some sort of a law for the rehabilitation of the merchant marine will be passed, for nobody denies the importance of attaining this object. But it is safe to predict that when that time comes the object will be attained, not by direct Treasury grants, such as are paid by Japan and various other nations, but by a milder and more indirect means. It may be by means of liberal mail-carrying contracts, free ships in the foreign trade, or some other of the various expedients that have been suggested, but it is hard to believe that Congress can be induced to embark upon a program of direct ship subsidies.

CASCADE AVENUE PARKING.

To the Editor of The Gazette.

If Cascade avenue is included in the paving district, I sincerely hope parking will be considered first. One or the other, or both, should by all means be done. I am sure if the parking had been done all the way down, when the avenue was parked above, paving would not now be considered, and the parking would be much cheaper and would make a much more beautiful street, then it might be thought best to grade up the street and leave the paving for a few years. I hope the property owners along the avenue will talk this matter over and before things go too far decide on having the parking done.

HEALING BY FAITH.

To the Editor of The Gazette.

At the meeting of the Ministerial Alliance on Monday morning, October 4, those present had a rare treat in listening to an address by Dr. Howard Agnew Johnston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, dealing with the subject, "How Far Shall We Encourage the Healing of the Sick in Answer to Prayer?"

In his usual forceful style and with deep spiritual insight together with a recital of his own experience, he presented conclusions that are convincing.

His first position taken was that purely scientific men had no right to reason deductively along spiritual lines. Only those whose personal experiences could not be doubted, whose lives had been touched by the Holy Spirit could enter into and comprehend these spiritual matters. The place to learn about prevailing prayer was through the ministry and life of Jesus Christ and the unfolding of the same through his apostles. There was but one hindering cause to present day realities in these matters—unbelief.

From experiences in his personal ministry he was led to believe that God will bless means when the definite prayer is made that divine power be added. However he finds no fault with one who relies solely on the prayer of faith for the healing of the body. His own life had been affected by reading a book, entitled "Expectation Corner," and a deeper and richer spiritual life had been realized. The recital of answered prayer in his ministry, when perfect symphonizing occurred as pictured in Matthew eighteenth chapter, nineteenth and twentieth verses, was most convincing when the healing of the eyes pronounced incurable by the physician, of one of his flock in a distant city was brought about through concerted, believing prayer.

Another point made was the reality in the lives of God's trusting children of Romans, eighth chapter, twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh verses. All of these prayers must be made with unwavering faith, for in the language of James, first chapter, sixth, seventh and eighth verses, we know what to expect. He clearly saws, as shown in Second Cor., eleventh verse, the effects of united prayer, and also recognized the gifts left to the church, as shown in First Cor., twelfth chapter, believing, however, that the power given to one might not always remain or be the same. That a trusting child of God was not always healed, he thought, was proven by the experience of Paul's infirmity. Others are not healed because it is God's time to take them to himself.

Such is a brief outline of the helpful thoughts given out. The writer feels to praise and thank God for such utterances presented before a body of ministers in Colorado Springs, since answered prayer for the healing of the body, as well as many other things, has been the constant joy and daily experience of many of God's little ones in these days.

There are many, however, in this city, no doubt, who will be interested in hearing the further discussion on this subject, which will take place at some future date before the Ministerial Alliance, in which all the ministers may participate. May the holy spirit be shed abroad in the hearts of his under shepherds, and the unity of faith be realized in this community for which our Savior prayed, so that the name of God may be magnified among the children of men and the power of God be manifected, is the prayer of an

OBSERVER WHO WAS PRESENT.

Colorado Springs, Oct. 6.

She walks in beauty like the night, as some romantic singer said; her eyes give forth a starry light, her lips are of a cherry red across the floor she seems to float; she seems to me beyond compare, a being perfect—till I note the way that she's done up her hair. MY LADY'S HAIR. She must have toiled a half a day to build that large, unwieldy mess; she must have used a bale of hay, and strips of tin, and wire of brass; her sisters must have helped to braid, her mother wrought and tinkered there, and butler, cook and chambermaid, all helped to wrestle with her hair. And after all the grinding toil, and all the braiding and the fuss, the one effect is just to spoil her beauty, and make people cuss. She walks in beauty like the night where nights are most serenely fair; but, J. H. Caesar! she's a sight, when she's got on her Sunday hair!

The Daily Chit-Chat

"I'm absolutely discouraged. I don't feel as if I'd ever be happy again," said my little friend, as she finished her tale of woe or rather of innumerable woes.

I closed my eyes and thought a minute. "It is just five months and three days ago that you said that before," I reminded her, "and after things got straightened out weren't you fairly quite happy?"

"Ye-es, but this is so much worse," she said.

"Worse because it's now," I answered. "But you wait until next week and tell me if things won't have straightened out just as they did before."

The next week I saw her and she was so happy that she had completely forgotten she had even been otherwise.

And yet next time I know she'll say, "I don't feel as if I could ever be happy again."

Because she is an exceptionally stupid girl? No, because she's just like most of us.

Last time the black mood came to you—as it comes to most of us and you thought your friends were all going back on you and you'd lost your grip on your work, and your business associates were plotting against you and all your little or big—sins and mistakes were finding you out, didn't you say, "Things won't ever come straight again?"

And despite the fact that they did come straight—maybe straighter than they ever had been, before the next time the black mood comes aren't you going to say the same thing again?

The pleasant lesson that things always DO come straight, that somehow or other one always IS happy again, seems to be a surprisingly hard one for most of us to learn.

Experience continually thrusts this key to happiness into our hands and most of us stupidly refuse to take it.

I know a girl who says she likes to get real blue because she knows that when she gets over it she will be correspondingly happy. Isn't it so with you?

Then why not comfort yourself by remembering that the next time you're down in the depths?

Here is a suggestion that a philosopher of the they-always-do-come-out-right school makes.

The next time you have a blue fit and get over it, before you have had time to forget it, write down in your note book or on a slip of paper something like this,

"I was just as blue as I shall ever be again. Absolutely everything went wrong, I was sure I would never get over it, but I did and now I am just as happy as I ever was."

The next time you get down in the depths, take out your note book or your slip of paper and read this affidavit over carefully.

You may doubt my word in the matter, but you can't very well doubt your own.

A CURIOSITY OF SEQUOIA RESERVE

From the Wide World Magazine.

Out in California there is a tree trunk which has stood for the last 16 years entirely severed from its base. The stump is 15 feet in diameter, and the trunk towers 75 feet in the air. This remarkable freak is located near the Sequoia forest reserve, in Tulare county, Cal., and was sawed off by lumbermen for timber. Through some miscalculation, when the cut was finished the tree still held its position and dynamite was resorted to to bring it to the ground, which accounts for the deep gash on one side. After the first charge of the explosive had been ignited the tree still remained standing, and it was discovered that the entire trunk had been shattered by the discharge and was therefore useless for lumber. Accordingly the work was stopped and the giant has remained upright, withstanding some of the severest wind storms that the state has known, held in its natural position by its great weight.

Dainty Crystal

Tumblers, goblets, iced tea glasses, wine service and all other stemware should be of the best and daintiest kind. There is also the consideration of fashion in such matters. The observant housewife knows this, and also knows that ours is of correct fashion and best quality. For a wedding gift nothing could be better than one of the pieces we are showing.

PRESIDENTIAL TIMBER.

A tow-headed kid with a shock of hair
That hadn't been cut for a year,
With feet that were brown and sturdy and bare,
And clothes that were all out of gear;
A kid with a nose that ran retrousse
And ears that were big as sails
Who hadn't been laundered since yesterday
And who didn't take care of his nails.

A tow-headed kid with a cigarette,
Who knew how to blow through his nose,
Who'd play hookey from school any day,
you bet,
With an eloquent care-free pose;
The kind of a kid that would toe the line
For any old kind of scrap,
Who was out on the banks when fishing
was fine
And for weather cared never a rap.

Oh, he was a kid from his young tow
head
To the wiggle of all his toes,
The kind of a kid that, perhaps, you've read
To marvelous manhood grows;
And he sat on the fence with his cigarette
And his nose that ran retrousse,
And dreamed, if he lived, that perhaps he'd get
To be President some day!

LIFE ABOARD A SUBMARINE.

Not So Undesirable as Might Be Imagined—Officers and Men Share Alike.

From the New York American.

Life aboard a submarine is not so unpleasant or dangerous as one might imagine, but it is entirely different from that led on other types of ships. The crew, usually consisting of two officers and 14 men, is selected from volunteers after a most rigid medical examination. Service rarely extends beyond a period of two years, and real work on a submarine is limited to about three weeks in the summer and one in the winter. During the remainder of the time the men live on a "parent" ship or on shore. The boat is, however, put through the various evolutions once every week.

The first impression on entering a submarine is one of heat, the air being rather close and heavy, but the men soon become accustomed to it. Standing room space is about six and one-half feet, and toward both ends the boat tapers away to a point. There are no portholes. The hatchway in the conning tower is the only aperture. Under water electric light is used. There are ventilators, but when the boat dives they are shut off with a cap.

Life on board a submarine is essentially "in common." The way men and many objects are crammed together in a narrow space is almost miraculous.

Cooking is done in an electric oven, and no foods which have a strong or disagreeable smell are used. Of course, smoking is allowed only when on the surface, and then on the bridge. Owing to the character of the men selected, discipline is perfect.

There is scarcely any noise in a submarine when submerged. The greatest depth the boat descends does not exceed 30 feet. At that depth her speed is about eight knots. The air is quite "breathable" for four hours, but in case of emergency the crew can remain closed in for 70 hours without danger.

The men love the life. With the officers they are as one family, sharing everything equally, including the dangers, which are not much to speak of, provided every one does his duty. When the weather is fair there is very little rolling. In rough weather the men escape knocking about by holding on to "steadying lines."

ECHOES QUEER THINGS.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"Echoes," remarked the Great Traveler, "are queer things. They're queer for two reasons: their cause and the vast difference in their sounds. Science has explained why there are echoes, but it can't tell why one should reverberate with bass tones in response to a shrill tenor yell, while another reverses this or responds naturally."

"I reckon you've heered a number o' echoes," said the man, whose furthest trip from home was a distance of 41½ miles.

"Rather. I recall one in Switzerland, the echo rolled for just four seconds, no more no less. Then there's one in the Pyrenees that jumps six times, first loud and harsh, then low and soft, then loud again, and so on. There's one in the western part of Germany that holds a full sentence of seven words before releasing a sound, thus rivaling a certain echo in Afghanistan, which doesn't repeat until a minute and a half has elapsed."

"I'd like to listen to a few of 'em," suggested the home-staying man, with a suspicion of distrust in the tone of his voice.

"Of course, you would," responded the traveler. "There's nothing in the world like a good echo."

"You're right," said the other. "I ain't never been but a few miles from hum, but I've heered one of the strangest voices that can be. Beats any of yours all to shucks. Up in the little range of hills 20 miles yonder is a ravine. If you stand at one end of that ravine an' yell 'Jones,' what echo 'spose'll come?"

"I have no idea," said the traveler.

"Well, sir, it says, kind o' questionin' like, 'Jones? Jones? What Jones?' "

"After all," mused the Great Traveler, "it's hard to stump a homebody."

LESSON IN PHYSIOLOGY.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Preach patience as they may, public school superintendents do not always practice it. And this very fact saved the scalp of a teacher who had been derelict in her duties regarding the teaching of the noble science of physiology.

The superintendent was in the habit of dropping in to the different class rooms and demanding a recital of lessons from the pupils. One day her active mind hit upon physiology as the study for examination.

It happened that the teacher did herself not like the study of the human anatomy, and, therefore, had not drilled her scholars as she should have done. But the little girl to whom the first question was put so bewildered the superintendent and made her lose her patience that there were no more questions of a similar nature asked.

"Tell me," said the superintendent, "what a skeleton is."

"A skeleton?" she asked. "A skeleton? Why, a skeleton is a man with his insides out and his outsides off."

DOGS ATE A CHURCH.

Sad Sequel to a Magic Lantern Show.

From Everybody's.

The missionary sent to the States for a magic lantern and the necessary slides. Thirteen months later they reached him.

Everything in Baffin bay dates from that ever-memorable magic-lantern exhibition. From 300 miles around the expectant Eskimos came in behind their dog teams to participate in the wonderful event. The sealskin church was filled to overflowing. The spectators were packed as closely as sardines in a tin. The scent of sperm-oil and blubber and sweat-soaked furs mingled in the air. Although the thermometer outside registered 40 degrees below zero, the perspiration poured in streams down the faces of the enthusiastic audience. And when the straggling list of arctic explorers who have touched at Cumberland sound have long since been forgotten, the recollection of that magic-lantern show will linger in the minds of the Eskimos from Meta Incognita to Cockburn Land.

But a few nights later a sad fate befell the sealskin church. It was eaten up by a pack of hungry Eskimo dogs. These savage creatures, starved almost to death, made a raid on the edifice during a blinding snowstorm. Managing to get on top of the roof, they soon tore holes in the sealskin covering, and, in spite of the exertions of the missionary and his entire congregation, they actually ran away with the greater portion of the frozen skin, which, at a safe distance, they proceeded to devour.

The largest static electric machine ever built is owned by a New York physician. Twenty forty-inch glass discs revolve against twenty others to produce sparks 30 inches long by three-fourths of an inch in diameter.

Today occurs Kaufman's Thirteenth Anniversary Sale. For complete particulars see adv. on page two.

What the Press Agts Say

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA

After a strenuous six months, John Philip Sousa, composer-conductor, has begun his thirty-fifth semiannual tour as director of the globe-famed band that bears his name. Sousa has won international distinction and deserved fame as the representative band master, and his march compositions are today in vogue in every civilized country in the world His personality and shrewd fact has brought band music to an elevated plane unequaled and is the subject from which present-day imitators gain their point. Sousa will not give the current season his customary extension, as "The March King" will be obliged to devote his attention to the production of his new opera, "The Glass Blowers," which production will be made about the first of the new year. For this reason the band season will comprise a quick trip to the Pacific coast and return, closing in New York just before Christmas time The local concerts are scheduled for next week at the Opera House, and the announcement has been met with an unusual amount of interest.

CAN'T STAY AWAY.

Despite the unpleasant weather of the past few days, the Majestic continues to cater to big houses, this week's show being an attraction too strong to be resisted. Everybody is pleased with it—young and old, single and married, men and women. It is a bill that has something of interest for everybody, some feature that makes an especial appeal to different ones and an aggregation of features that win enthusiastic praise from all.

The Three Ernesto Sisters, in their performances on the slack wire, create admiration and wonder. The Four Toras, the sensational Japanese troupe, arouse amazement and mystification by their feats Gaynell Everett, with her singing and dancing and novelty features, entertains and surprises. Glendower and Manion in the sketch, "Christmas on the Comstock," hold the sympathy of their audiences. The sketch conveys a powerful moral lesson, but its humor and joyous ending are conducive to good spirits. Bert Havens touches a responsive chord in his two solos. His song, "Keep on the Sunny Side," always has an immediate effect. The Majestiscope pictures, portraying a tragic drama of western life that real characters could not enact so realistically, are so clear and vivid as to compel applause for the dumb shadow actors.

TRIAL SHIPMENT FROM SUNSHINE LEASE

Special to The Gazette.

CAMERON, Colo., Oct. 6.—A trial shipment was loaded out yesterday from the Sunshine, on Galena hill, owned by the Fort Pitt Gold Mining company, by Lessee F. Kreutzer and associates. The ore mined from a new shoot entered at the depth of about 78 feet from surface, is an oxidized granite quartz and is said to show better than average grade values from fire tests. The property at one time made heavy production of milling-grade ore, but has long lain idle. The Fort Pitt company is controlled by Pittsburg, Pa., capitalists, and was operated on an extensive scale. The shaft was sunk to a depth of about 460 feet, but the ore shipped was all mined from the upper levels.

VICTOR MINE ACTIVE.

Special to The Gazette.

GOLDFIELD, Colo., Oct. 6.—Twenty carloads of ore were billed out from the Victor mine on Bull cliffs during September, and it is confidently expected that the production will be materially increased by the end of the present month. The property originally leased to the Western Investment company of Victor, was subleased to the Roscoe Leasing company, headed by F. D. Roscoe, a mining man of Australian and South African experience. This company in turn has granted five subleases, and six sets of operators are now mining and shipping ore. The product marketed during the past month was of different grades with a general average value of about $20 a ton.

GOOD RETURNS EXPECTED FROM WOMACK HILL ORE

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Oct. 6.—Dworak and Mackey, who recently made an important strike on the New Boston on Womack hill, will load out their initial shipment this morning. The lessees are reticent as to the value of the ore, but judging from samples, the settlement will be at a rate above two ounces gold to the ton.

HOBSON SHIPPING HEAVILY.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Oct. 2—W. Hobson, leasing on block 54 of the Stratton estate on Globe hill, located on the Lady Stith claim, was loading out ore from the Badger station yesterday. Hobson is shipping about 100 tons a month from the ore body under development at an approximate depth of 78 feet, and the settlements are from about $18 to $20 a ton. The shaft on this property has been sunk to a depth of 500 feet, but the entire production has been made from above the 100-foot level.

BOTH BOYS SAVED.

Louis Boon, a leading merchant of Norway, Mich., writes: "Three bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar absolutely cured my boy of a severe cough, and a neighbor's boy, who was so ill with a cold that the doctors gave him up, was cured by taking Foley's Honey and Tar." Nothing else is as safe and certain in results. Sold by all druggists.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Colorado Springs Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Colorado Springs, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Colorado Springs sufferers.

Mrs. F. S. Edgecombe, 1724 Grant Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "The public statement I gave in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills in December, 1906 still holds good and at the time I gladly re-endorse the remedy. My trouble was caused by weak kidneys and I was annoyed by profuse passages of the kidney secretions. Learning that Doan's Kidney Pills were very effective in cases of this kind, I procured a supply at the D. Y. Butcher Drug Co. Their splendid action fully justifies the praise I give them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

DECLINE OF STEEL UNDERMINES MARKET

Effect Most Pronounced in Purely Sentimental Aspect—Heavy Liquidation General.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—There was further heavy speculative liquidation in all departments of the stock list today and material inroads of prices resulted. United States was at one time 2 5-8 lower than last night's closing price and 7 3-8 below the top record price touched on Monday of this week. The extent to which this decline affects the speculative world is best judged by the volume of the dealings, which are eloquent of the widespread consequences of the fall on the pockets of speculators.

Probably the violent relapse in United States Steel is of most effect on the tone of the whole market in its purely sentimental aspect. The marvelous upward course of the stock has impressed the speculative imagination as few things of late years have done. A powerful stock market pool, embracing the most influential bankers in the country, was credited with determined accumulation and support of the stock.

The market lost its efficiency with the failure to sustain United States Steel and was especially vulnerable to the effect of closing of loans by the banks.

There was less evidence of calling of loans by the banks today. As a consequence, yesterday's shorts were disposed to cover at the early decline, and prices enjoyed a first effective recovery. The reception accorded the increase in the Atchison dividend was the fresh disconcerting influence. That stock started upward, but stopped nearly two points short of its high price on the movement inaugurated in expectation of the dividend increase.

The same heavy selling of United States Steel was renewed to take advantage of the effect of the strength in Atchison. The inference was so plain of further holdings of that stock seeking a market that sales were renewed in all parts of the room, and no effective rally was induced until the bears set about taking their profits again by buying to cover. Call money went no higher than 5 1-2 per cent, compared with the 6 per cent maximum yesterday.

Bonds were easy. Total sales, par value, $5,030,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT PRICES MAKE SUBSTANTIAL GAINS

High Premiums for Cash Grain; Prompt and Persistent Buying by Shorts.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Wheat prices made substantial gains on the board of trade today, owing to liberal covering by influential shorts, final quotations showing net advances of 5-8@3-4 to 3-4@7-8. Corn ruled steady, oats were easy and provisions weak. The feature in wheat was persistent buying by several of the larger shorts, which was presumably inspired by the high premiums prevailing for the cash grain here and at other important grain centers.

Excellent milling demand for cash wheat at Minneapolis and Kansas City, the Ohio crop report, which showed a deterioration of about 2,000,000 bushels in the total yield for the state compared with the government's estimate and firm cables, were additional bullish influences. December ranged between 101 3-4@7-8.

A material falling off in offerings of corn from the country checked the declining tendency of prices and held the market steady nearly all day. At the close, prices were a shade higher than yesterday.

Oats weakened late owing to liquidation of December. The market closed heavy, 1-8@1-4 to 3-8 lower.

Provisions were weak. Prices closed 7 1-2 to 10 to 15@17 1-2 lower than yesterday's close.
